

The week has been one long series of balls and entertainments in honor of the officers and men of the fleet, and each evening has found one of the hotels or some one of the beautiful private residences blazing with lights and filled with music and laughter as the gallant officers and their fair companions danced or strolled the hours away.

The ball was started rolling on Tuesday evening when the management of the Moana gave a large and brilliant ball in compliment to the officers. The hotel and grounds were beautifully decorated with colored lights, flags and bunting, and the dancers lingered until a very late hour. At this affair some of the most beautiful ball gowns that have ever been worn in Honolulu made their appearance.

On Wednesday evening the merchants' association gave a ball at the Young in honor of the chief petty officers of the fleet at which the crowd was so large that both of the pavilions on the roof were turned over to the dancers and an orchestra stationed in each ballroom. The ball was an immense success and was given as a return courtesy for the many pleasant functions which the chief petty officers have given here during their former visits.

On Friday evening the University and Pacific clubs gave a large ball at the Alexander Young Hotel to Admiral Sobree and the senior officers of the fleet. The local army and navy contingent and Honolulu society were out in full forces and some very elaborate and staiding gowns were worn.

The ball for the blue-jackets was given last night at Waikiki and both the Moana and Seaside hotels were used to accommodate the boys from the cruisers. A walk had been built from one hotel to the other and proved a popular promenade between dances. The grounds were one mass of electric lights and splendid music was provided for the dancers in both ballrooms. The list of patronesses included a score of prominent society ladies who put in an appearance early in the evening and saw to it that the boys had a time that they will long remember.

Thursday evening the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Castle was the scene of a large and brilliant gathering, the occasion being a reception and dance the Castles tendered to Admiral Sobree and the officers of the fleet.

The guests were received by the host and his daughter and niece, the Misses Beatrice and Margaret Castle. Miss Beatrice Castle wore a girlish gown of delicate pink satin with a crown of pink rosebuds and Miss Margaret Castle looked dainty in a delicate blue frock.

The drawing room, music room, reception hall and library were all thrown open to receive the guests, and for the dancing a pavilion had been erected in the yard amid the tropical foliage. The pavilion was built to represent a conservatory and was a veritable bower of green, the sides being twined with smilax and mallow. Part of the shrubs of the yard had been inclosed and the guests were surprised to find a large orange tree laden with fruit and blossoms growing in the middle of the dancing pavilion. In the pavilion and throughout the grounds were strung Japanese lanterns and the musicians occupied a hidden platform amid the greenery.

Those who assisted the host and hostess were Major and Mrs. Wadhams, Judge and Mrs. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Miss Imgard Schaefer, Miss Cross, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Hedemann, Alfred Castle, Harold Castle, Frederick Lowrey, Sherwood Lowrey and W. Greenwell of Hawaii.

Among the guests were Governor and Mrs. Frear, Judge and Mrs. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Admiral and Mrs. Corwin Rees, Admiral Uriel Sobree, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Schaefer, Mr. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffmann, Major and Mrs. Wadhams, Miss Blanche Soper, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hall, Judge and Mrs. A. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Miss M. Damon, Lieutenant Moses, Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop, Lieutenant Chilton, Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, Lieutenant Pardee, Lieutenant Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, Lieutenant Howe, Lieutenant MacMillan, Mr. Wichman, Mr. Page, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Mr. Sherwood Lowrey, Mr. Frederick Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Lieutenant Kilgore, Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty, George Fuller, A. MacKinnon, Mr. F. M. McClellan, Mr. Bert Clark, Mr. R. Brown, Mr. R. W. Anderson, Misses Dorothy Wood, Hedemann, Fisher, Schaefer, Sturgeon, Roth, Paty, Waterhouse (2), McClellan (2), McStocker (2), J. White, Spanlen, Alice Macfarlane.

Mrs. Malcolm Whitman died recently in New York following the birth of a son. She was one of the five McCook girls, and a niece of Charles B. Alexander, whose wife was Hattie Crocker of San Francisco. Her father, General McCook, was at one time United States minister to Hawaii, during the reign of Kalakaua.

will soon start for the East to be there to meet Mrs. Campbell when she arrives.

Town Talk—Princess David Kawananakoa, who has been an interesting addition to society this winter, is mother to the heir apparent of the Hawaiian throne. It is a picturesque distinction. The young Prince Kalakaua is son of the late King Kalakaua's nephew and adopted son, David Kawananakoa, whose death occurred three years ago.

Princess Kalakaua and his sister, Princess Liliohokalani, are familiar figures in the neighborhood of Presidio Terrace where they disport themselves quite as other children. They are to attend school in this city and the heir apparent will enter Yale ten years or so hence. Princess David's mother, now deceased, was a native woman and a great belle. She was twice married. The second marriage took place nine years ago at the old Occidental Hotel in this city, just three days after Miss Campbell became Princess Kawananakoa, and there was a double honeymoon. Princess David is a beauty of the Carmen type, more Spanish than Hawaiian in appearance. She wears black velvet a great deal and had the honor of supporting the largest hat at Mrs. Porter Pungst's recent luncheon at the Palace.

Among the departing passengers on the Alameda on Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Densham. Mr. and Mrs. Densham were covered with leis and a crowd of friends were down at the boat to see them off.

Mrs. Alexander Isenberg and party will return from Kani on the Mauna Loa on Tuesday where she has been visiting for the past two weeks with Mrs. Hans Isenberg. Upon her return Mr. Isenberg will occupy one of the cottages at the Pleasenton.

Chronicle—On Tuesday the notable social features were the handsome luncheon given at the Hotel Maunani by Mrs. George Toy, in honor of Mrs. Frank Baldwin of Honolulu, who is spending the winter with her mother, Mrs. Kittredge, at the Fairmont, and the cotillion at which Mrs. M. H. de Young entertained the young friends of her daughter, Kathleen. Both of these affairs were of unusual beauty.

Mrs. Toy's luncheon was marked by exquisite floral decorations of lavender shaded orchids. Among her guests were Mrs. Willard Wayman, Mrs. Henry Holmes, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. Marion Higgins, Mrs. James Black, Mrs. Charles Bentley, Mrs. Florence Porter Pungst, Mrs. Charles Gartley, Miss May Cogan, Mrs. Francis Lucas, Mr. Paul Bancroft, Mr. A. Wenzelberger, Mrs. Harvey Toy and Mrs. E. H. Kittredge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Morton Riggs were the host and hostess at a Reception and Cards at their home 2355 King Street on Saturday 5th inst. The grounds and house were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and a quintet of Hawaiian singing boys added much to the pleasure of the evening. American beauty roses and Violets were used in decorating the interior of the house, and these with Mrs. Riggs' collection of maidenhair fern left nothing to be desired in the artistic sense. Bridge was the feature until eleven o'clock, at which time supper was served. Among the guest present were Captain H. T. Myers U. S. S. California, Capt. J. C. Gilmore U. S. S. Maryland, Capt. C. C. Carpenter U. S. M. C. U. S. S. Tennessee, Pay Inspector Z. W. Reynolds U. S. S. Tennessee, Lieut. Comdr. C. B. Barnes U. S. S. West Virginia, Paymaster Willberding U. S. S. Maryland, Surgeon H. Ehrenholt, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. C. Hagens, Capt. and Mrs. Marx, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wong, Mr. Charles P. McAvoy, Lieut. Commencing Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at the residence of Governor and Mrs. Walter Frear, Miss George Robertson will give a series of three informal talks on Japanese art, under the auspices of the College Club. All those interested will be welcome.

On Thursday Mrs. Gartenberg entertained with a bridge and luncheon in honor of her house guest, Miss Coffee, of Oakland. The tables were arranged in the land and were decorated with carnations and maidenhair fern.

At their home at Fair Shafter on Friday evening Major and Mrs. Sumner Dunning gave an elaborately appointed dinner in honor of Admiral Sobree and Admiral Barry. A number of townspeople were asked to meet the admirals and after dinner the party motored in to attend the dance at the Young.

Among the arriving passengers on the Siberia on Monday was a party of relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Young, who will be their house guests at their Waikiki home for some time. This party from California is only a part of the numerous relatives who have been invited to make a visit to the Alexander Youngs and be present with them to celebrate the golden wedding on the sixth of next month. The party who arrived on the Siberia included Mrs. Theo. F. Dredge and her two daughters, Miss Gladys and Miss Beatrice Dredge, Mrs. J. L. Howard, Mrs. Thomas Reid McNab, Miss McNab, and Mrs. Sullivan. On the fourteenth of this month the Manchuria will bring Theo. F. Dredge, Dr. J. L. Howard and Dr. Thomas Reid McNab. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Young will then have a house party of fourteen relatives to take part in the golden wedding celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Young were married in London, England, on the sixth day of March fifty years ago and on the sixth of March, 1910, will hold a big family reunion and celebration. At present their plan is to hold the festivities at their home at Waikiki and not in the ballroom of the Young Hotel.

On Tuesday evening Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffmann celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding by giving at the Kiloana Art League a reception and vaudeville evening. The fact that the form of the entertainment for the evening had been kept a secret added to the enjoyment of the program. The guests were met by the host and several fair assistants who acted as ushers to show them to the orchestra chairs and the company were all seated and waiting expectantly when the curtain went up and disclosed the hostess and James L. Cockburn in a scene from the second act of Mikado. From then on the program went with a dash and each number was cheered to the echo. The program for those assisting the hostess read as follows:

Scene from 2nd Act of Mikado ..... Sullivan

Following the program Dr. and Mrs. Hoffmann held a reception and were showered with a perfect rainfall of tinware by their friends. After the reception the guests adjourned to the dining hall for refreshments. Among the two hundred guests who came to congratulate the Hoffmanns were many who recalled the time that the couple had to get married ten years ago, for at that time the plague was raging and the church opened for the ceremony and had to have the quarantine raised so he and his bride could spend three days on Tantalus. Among those present on Tuesday evening were:
